Learning to Design Thru Monster is a design project organized by Hong Kong Design Centre. The project consolidated the design process into three consecutive workshops which were tutored by renowned designer Grace Lau and our Visual Arts teacher Camille Wang for students talented in arts & design. The basic stages of research, idea development, and evaluation & selection were conducted during the workshops. On completing the workshop, students should have acquire all necessary skills such as describing the basic design process; applying research skills to find relevant information; generating and listing multiple ideas; relating thinking skills to solve different projects and comparing options by using different evaluation tools. In the end, students have to create an artwork of their “monster” in any medium.

Of all the arts talents nurtured, 5 secondary schools were invited to participate in the projects and 22 groups of students were selected for the final presentation and competition held on 5th of December, 2009 at Community College of City University. There are a total of two grand awards. They are the “Most Creative Monster Award” and the “Best Team Award”. Students of LTFC proved their all-round excellence again and again. Wing Fu and Yuet Kei created a doll to present their ideas of the monster and their monster was honoured as the “Most Creative Monster Award”. The adjudicators were fascinated by their beauty, confidence and dynamism. They were also impressed by depth and their original understanding of design thinking as shown in their presentation.

To our students, the arts elite project gave them the opportunity to discover their own talent for art, technology and creative fashion design. What has been demonstrated by our students in winning this grand award--- How versatile LTFC students are, an absolute testimony to the all-round education they receive!
